Henry Cone is shown here with the melted TV set in his home at 2310 Seventh Avenue. Lightning is believed to have struck the set and set fire to the house.

City Firemen On Three Fires At Once Monday

City firemen answered three fire calls--two rural and one in town--in rapid succession Monday night.

Damage was extensive at all three places.

There were fires at the Victor Hill place, the Bradley Burrus farm and at the Henry Cone residence at 2310 Seventh.

Firemen were hampered by a blinding rain storm.

First call came from the Victor Hill place 8 miles southeast of town. A double garage and workshop was destroyed in that blaze.

Firechief Jack Haley said about 20 firemen answered the call.

Haley said there had been a small fire at the garage Monday afternoon. Apparently it was not completely extinguished and smoldered on until it broke into flames in the night.

Firemen managed to save a small house nearby. It was in flames but firemen controlled the blaze there.

Haley said the department took its pickup truck, the county's fire truck and the city's GMC unit to the Hill place. While still at the Hill fire, the department was notified by radio of a fire at the Bradley Burrus farm 4 miles west of Canyon.

The city pickup and the county fire truck were dispatched to the Burrus farm while the city's GMC stood by at the Hill place.

Haley said the fire apparently was started by lightning. It appeared to have started above the kitchen stove. Damage was confined to the kitchen.

"While we were there we were notified by radio that the Henry Cone home in Canyon was on fire," Haley reported.

Lightning struck the Cone television. It was discovered by Miss Edna Lois Cone who lives at the residence with her parents.

She said she was awakened by smoke and went to the living room to find the television was on fire. The blaze spread quickly to nearby window curtains in the northeast portion of the living room which fronts northward onto Seventh.

In spite of two other fires in progress, city firemen were on the scene within minutes after the alarm. Haley said the city keeps a unit inside the city limits and it was this unit manned by standby firemen which answered the call at the Cone residence.

In the meantime, the city's GMC unit at the Hill place ran out of water and returned to Canyon. The county truck then was dispatched to the Hill garage where it stood by until about 2 o'clock.

Mayor To Tell FD Status On Fire Contract

Canyon city commission Monday night authorized Mayor Delbert Lowes to appear before the next meeting of the city fire department and explain the present status of the city-county fire contract.

The commission authorized payment of several bills at the Monday night meeting including $739.49 to McMorries & Associates, city engineers.

The group decided to delay until fall appointment of an advisory committee to study city improvement needs on a long-range basis.

Canyon Sisters Rate High In Ski Tourney

More than 5,000 persons watched as some 70 entrants competed in the tenth annual Rickshaw Water Ski Tournament held at Buffalo Lake this weekend.

The Class B tournament featured teams and individuals from states in the South Central region and as far away as California.

Only one injury marred the excitement of the 2-day event. Gail Williams Matheny, 29, Arlington, was hospitalized Sunday night in Neblett Hospital. He suffered contusion of the forehead following a jumping event.

Matheny was a member of the Colorado Water Skiing Club which won the traveling team trophy for the tournament.

The tournament was sponsored by the Panhandle Boat and Ski Club of Amarillo, and chief judge for the events was Dee B. Crouch of Pueblo, Colorado. Kenneth Clark and Gerald Warwick of Canyon were assistant judges.

Charolette Clark of Canyon won first in the girls jumping and 3rd in girls slalom. She was third in overall competition in the girls division.

Judy Clark placed 3rd in jumping and 4th in slalom in the girls division.

Rain Peps Rangeland

Rains in the Canyon area have boosted row crop and range prospects.

M.B. Measamer at West Texas State College this week reports 2.30 inches of rain here at Canyon during the last three days.

He said 2.24 inches of that amount fell Tuesday, most of it Tuesday afternoon. A torrential downpour about mid-afternoon slowed traffic on highways near Canyon. Many motorists pulled to the roadside and stopped rather than drive in the blinding rain.

Downtown streets were flooded.

W.A. Warren, who has ranching interests east of town, said the rains have helped rangeland. "Grass is the best I've ever seen it," he declared.

County Agent John Brazzil said rains have not been general and some areas of the county still are needing moisture.

Canyon Getting Ready For Settlers Reunion

The Wild West comes to life next week as old settlers, cowboys and rodeo hands flock to Canyon to help in the celebration of the Randall County Rodeo and Old Settlers Reunion.

The town will be decked in western gear beginning Monday as Mayor Delbert Lowes declared the week of July 30 through August 4 as Western Week.

Official activities begin Thursday, August 2, with a parade through downtown. The parade will begin at First Avenue and Seventeenth and go west on Second Avenue to Sixteenth Street. From Sixteenth Street the parade will go to Fourth Avenue and around the Square, back down Fourth Ave. to Twenty-third Ave.

Riding clubs from all over the Panhandle area will participate in the parade and Grand Entry of the Rodeo Thursday evening.

Immediately following the parade a barbecue will be held on the east side of the square. Members of the Lions Club and Rotary Club are challenging each other on the sale of barbecue tickets. The club which sells the least tickets will be in charge of serving tables and cleaning up after the barbecue supper.

The rodeo will begin each evening at 8 and will feature seven events. Rodeo riders will have an opportunity to enter the calf roping, bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc, bulldogging or bull riding. Another special event will be the girls' barrel racing and any 12-year-olds or under may enter the calf scramble contest.

In order to win in the calf scramble event youngsters must secure the ribbon which will be tied to a calf's tail. Winners in the contest will receive $5, $3, and $2 prizes. To participate in the calf scramble children do not have to register in advance. If they are among the spectators at the rodeo they may come down to the arena and enter.

Stock for the rodeo will be furnished by Ratjen Brothers

Commissioner Thinks Driver Might Suffice

County Commissioner C.Y. Johnson Monday proposed establishment of a county fire department if the county's rural fire contract with the city of Canyon is terminated.

Asked what he would propose if the city-county fire contract is terminated, Johnson replied:

"I would propose advertising for a Randall County fireman."

He said the fireman could drive the county's fire truck to rural fires.

"Surely someone would volunteer to help put it (the fire) out," he declared.

Johnson made the proposal when questioned by newsmen after attempts to get city and county governing bodies together to discuss their differences on the fire contract.

Last week Johnson said there never has been any intent to deprive rural areas of fire protection. Johnson went so far as to pledge continuation of this protection regardless of the outcome of the county controversy with the city.

The city-county contract was signed by all five members of commissioners court March 31, 1961. The resolution unilaterally revising the contract was drawn up by Johnson and passed by the court last month. Commissioner Clarence Beckman abstained from voting.

City commissioners Monday declined an invitation to meet with county commissioners, immediately proffered their own invitation for a parley only to have it rebuffed.

The contract between the two governmental sub-divisions calls for the county to pay the city $100 for each rural fire call answered by the city.

The county furnishes a fire truck to the city. The county has voted to revise the contract so the county may deduct $100 a month for the next 10 years from city billing. The county contends this would pay for depreciation on county fire equipment.

Some city officials maintain that this amounts to the city buying a fire truck designed for rural fires and not adaptable to fire fighting in the city. One city commissioner said it would amount to the city buying a piece of equipment it does not need.

City officials say any deduction from city billing will be a breach of contract by the county.

House Trailer Flipped Here

Wind overturned a trailer house Sunday evening on Washington Street Road about a half mile south of the road's intersection with Palo Duro Highway.

The trailer belongs to Alvin Boehning, Amarillo, uncle of Leonard Boehning of Canyon. Boehning was en route to a church camp at Wayside.

It was being pulled by a car. Wind overturned the trailer and flipped the car across the highway. The trailer was damaged but there were no injuries.

Wind also blew down a windmill tower at the Herbert Kuhlman place 5-1/2 miles east of Canyon and ripped limbs from trees on the Leonard Boehning place 6 miles southeast of town.

Campers Stranded As Flood Hits Palo Duro

Seventy-one campers and 14 automobiles were stranded over night early this week in Palo Duro Canyon by a flash flood after a 5-inch cloudburst inundated the Palo Duro water shed.

The downpour came late Monday afternoon. Campers said a 7-foot wall of water surged down Palo Duro Creek.

Park Attendant Bob Watson, who lives beyond Crossing No. 5 rescued a woman and two boys who were standing on picnic tables in the Cottonwood Grove Camp Area.

Brooklyn Family Tells Experiences In Flood

"We looked out of our tent and saw a wall of water," This was how Edward Edwardsen of Brooklyn, N.Y., described his first few minutes of his visit to Palo Duro State Park Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwardsen and sons, Edward, 12 years old, and Ronald, 11, were camped at Cottonwood Grove just below Crossing No. 5.

Edward saw the water first. "It was too late for us to get in our car and leave," Edwardsen continued.

Edwardsen had 100 feet of a strong line. "It was too short," he said. John O'Banion, on the bank, came to the rescue with 1,000 feet of line. He threw the rope over to Edwardsen.

By that time Mrs. Edwardsen and the boys were standing on a table. Logs and other debris were shooting past in the flood water.

By means of the line the Edwardsens reached safety. The family spent the night in a car near the restrooms below Crossing No. 5.

They had to wash their tent, their car and much of their (See Brooklyn page 3)

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Edwardsen and boys, Edward and Ronald, are shown here after arriving in Canyon. They spent the night with some 70 other campers stranded by a flash flood in Palo Duro Canyon.

Jerry LaGrone and Earl Reynolds start the face lifting process that Canyon merchants will begin using next week to decorate for the Randall County Rodeo and Old Settlers Reunion. LaGrone is chairman for the Rodeo and Reynolds is president of the Randall County Sheriff's Posse. The rodeo activities begin with a parade Thursday, August 2, followed by a barbecue held on the east side of the square.

Carl Lester Hollabaugh, Miss Hankins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hankins, 1215 Boyd, Borger; and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.F. Hollabaugh, 2115 Third, Canyon.

An arch of candles trimmed with salal and white satin bows was flanked by tall baskets of white gladioli and stock. The kneeling bench was the center of the setting with aisle posts and white roping marking the approach. A long white aisle cloth was drawn. Candles with white satin bows and greenery were placed in the windows.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Iwana Brown at the organ and Mrs. Sydney Brobst who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Walk Hand in Hand" preceding the ceremony, and after the service she sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor length gown of white bridal satin, chantilly lace, and a white silk organza overskirt with a chapel train. Lace appliques and seed pearls matching those on the tiara were scattered on the skirt and on the bodice which featured a scalloped neckline. The finger tip veil was of bridal illusion. The bride wore short lace gloves and carried a bouquet of a white yellow-throated orchid with stephanotis and white streamers attached to a white Bible, a gift from the Bunavista Y.W.A. She carried out the traditional "Something Old, Something New, Something Borrowed, Something Blue."

Miss Pat Cambern, maid of honor, Mrs. Sammy Smith, and Miss Linda Carr, all of Borger, attended the bride. They were dressed identically in turquoise cotton sheath dresses with matching silk organza overskirts styled like that of the bride's. They wore matching bow hats and shoes and a single strand of pearls, which were gifts from the bride. Their flowers were arrangements of large pom-poms of white carnations with a turquoise butterfly perched on top.

Melinda King of Stinnett was the flower girl, and Jimmy West, cousin of the bride, from Gainesville, Texas, was ring bearer. Melinda wore a turquoise pima mist dress with a full skirt, and wore white pearls, white gloves and a crown of white flowers. Jimmy wore a navy blue suit.

Increase sorghum yields with
Monsanto Anhydrous Ammonia

CANYON

RALPH SWITCH

Grain sorghum residue is low in nitrogen. Decomposition is slow if no nitrogen is added. That's why farmers in this area have been applying Monsanto Anhydrous Ammonia to their soil. Because anhydrous ammonia is a liquid when under pressure, you don't have to wait for granules to dissolve. Monsanto Anhydrous Ammonia starts right to work. You get more nitrogen (82.2%) per pound than from any other carrier. No money spent on bags or bagging costs—not to mention the handling problem. Applicator tanks are filled quickly. And Monsanto Anhydrous Ammonia resists leaching... remains "locked" in the soil to work when your crops need it most. Improves moisture efficiency even during drought periods. Just watch your check strip... you can see for yourself. Let us help you build your fertilizer program around Monsanto Anhydrous Ammonia for top sorghum yields.

Hilltop Views

Correction: Through a printer's error last week I was made to say "I think the end justifies the means" which is contrary to my conviction. There may be an occasional instance when the end justifies the means, but if so it is the exception—not the rule. This point of view has led to many crimes. To illustrate: Let us suppose I need money. My family is not being well-fed; well-clothed, or well-housed. My children cannot be educated. My credit is not good. I am not qualified for a better paying job. My family and I are humiliated. Under such circumstances, am I justified in robbing a bank, or forging a check, or holding up some one on the highway? Hardly.

Let us take another case. I am in business. My object is to support my family, carry my share of community responsibility, and lay up enough for old age—perhaps acquire a competency for my children, or an endowment of some charitable or other worthy institution. These are all noble objectives. But am I justified in misrepresenting my merchandise? In charging unconscionable prices? In watering down the quality of my product? In collusion with my competitors to maintain exorbitant prices? Is it ethical to mark up my prices and then advertise a reduction sale which is about the same as the original price? Such means hardly justify the ends, however noble.

Let us suppose I am lending money (a rash supposition in this instance, but many people do it). The law fixes a maximum interest rate and a penalty for violations. But I see a hole through which I think I can escape though I collect exorbitant interest. I decide that it is all right if I don't get caught, and if I should get entangled with the law a good lawyer can probably get me out; and if he can, I'll be able to do a lot of good that otherwise would be impossible—possibly help in a big way the Boy Scouts, or the Red Cross, or the Lord's work at my church. Good Lord, have mercy!

This idea that the end justifies the means finds abundant illustration in politics. Suppose, for example, I decide to run for public office (another violent supposition). Once announced I develop a compelling desire to win. My opponent is going to be hard to beat. Really he is a good man, and everybody knows it. He is gathering support from many directions. To win I must find some way to discount my opponent's popularity. He is a man of convictions and speaks his mind rather freely. He was once heard commending the New Frontier; also criticizing the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the American Manufacturer's Association. I tell a friend about these incidents and wonder if he isn't a Socialist. The story spreads—at first a rumor only, but soon becomes a "known fact"; and by this time, my opponent "leans toward Communism," "they" say. My friends ("they say" folks) step on the gas and I win in a walk. Did my victory justify the means I used?

In international politics Russia furnishes the all-time championship example of the fallacy of this idea that the end justifies the means. Professing as a purpose or an end the liberation of oppressed peoples everywhere Russian Communism is using every diabolical means that evil men through the ages have conceived—lying, murder, stealing, false imprisonment, plunder, forced labor, intimidation, rape, destruction of freedom of thought, speech, and religion, denial of God, destruction of family life, and what have you.

No, folks, I can't accept the doctrine that the end or purpose justifies the means. But there are plenty of people in this country who do.

TELEPHONE TALK

HELP!

Writing a newspaper column has its advantages and disadvantages. On the good side, it gives me a chance to discuss a variety of telephone topics and pass on news and views concerning my company, Southwestern Bell.

On the other hand, I sometimes come up "bone dry" and can't beg or borrow an idea to write about. And that's where YOU come in.

If you have a question you'd like answered or a subject you'd like discussed, just drop me a line. Only one restriction—keep the subject on telephones and communications. I'm no good at settling family fuses or giving personal, legal or medical advice. An if you come up with a question I can't answer, I'll try to find someone who can. How about it? Any takers?

Mister Businessman:

Ask yourself these questions:

Can your customers and prospects find you when they reach for the Yellow Pages?

Can you afford not to be represented under each production service or brand name item you sell?

Can you think of a better place to advertise to reach people who are ready to buy?

Talk it over with the Yellow Pages representative when he calls on you. He'll help you work out a program that fits your business needs.

Don't forget that the Yellow Pages are "who's who" of business firms in Canyon. They will be in use by hundreds of telephone customers here for many months to come. Your name prominently listed in an ad or listing will be read by hundreds of people. Some of these are sure to be prospects for your products or service. Again, can you afford not to be there?

A WORD TO THE WISE

I ran across this cartoon in one of our company publications. I think the moral is clear without me adding too many words.

If you are planning your vacation, and want to be sure of a reservation, always call ahead. Our telephone booths are nice but they were never designed for overnight stays.

So long, see you next month.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Your Better Hearing

The topic today is one very close to my heart and one which I enjoy discussing. It is a consideration of the possibilities of the field of audiology.

Audiology is the science of the measurement of hearing. It embraces many fields while remaining a separate field unto itself.

Audiology had its birth as a separate field in 1947. Since that time, I venture to guess that few new fields have enjoyed the phenomenal growth in knowledge that has been apparent in audiology.

A rather amusing feature is that it is impossible to write a book in the field that is not out of date before the ink gets dry. Researchers have made great strides forward in finding more about our hearing processes and what can be done for the hard-of-hearing individual.

It was a genuine thrill for the persons in audiology to discover that Dr. George Von Bekesy was given the Nobel Prize last fall for his research on the mechanism of the ear. It was an indication to us that medicine is greatly interested in the things we are doing to further man's knowledge of himself.

It is because of my great enthusiasm for this field that some of my associates have called me the Pied Piper of the Fine Arts Building. I cannot feel more strongly that a young person entering this field of study has a great future.

At this time of year, many high school graduates are looking forward to their college year. At the same time, many are greatly distressed because they do not feel a "calling" to any one profession.

To these young persons and their parents, I issue a challenge: audiology needs dedicated and resourceful persons. The academic preparation is far from simple. There are many sciences which contribute to a background of knowledge in audiology. The more thorough one's knowledge of these contributing sciences, the better equipped he will be to meet the challenges of this fine new profession.

Any young person who feels that he may be interested in this line of work, is invited to contact me. I would be most happy to talk with all young people and their parents about their future in audiology.

Next week, we will consider audiology and its related sciences.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

Tommy Thompson of the Amarillo Globe-Times is dabbling in Randall County politics again. Thompson, who delivered the kiss of death to Tom James in the attorney general race, is now waltzing with C.Y. Johnson, Randall County commissioner.

Thompson just loves office holders who look to Ninth and Harrison for "advice."

Thompson views with a jaundiced eye anything that happens within the city limits of Canyon.

Let's take a look at some of Thompson's latest misguided missives.

Thompson's reporting is as faulty as we fear are his motives. He says the county paid the city of Canyon $6,000 during the first six months of the year for rural fire calls while paying out $2,200 to Amarillo and $100 to Happy for the same period.

Actually, according to E.T. Cummings, county auditor, and City Manager Bill York the county paid the city of Canyon $4600 for the period ending June 30, 1962, $1100 to the city of Amarillo and $200 to Happy during the same period.

The Amarillo scribe conveniently neglected to point out that during the period Canyon answered 46 rural fire calls, Amarillo answered 11 and Happy 2.

This Ninth and Harrison seeker of justice and equality made it appear that the Canyon fire department had done no more than the other two departments which were less liberally rewarded.

The big row in which Thompson leaped before he looked, of course, centers around the fire truck furnished Canyon by the county. The truck, for which the county now wants to be paid, is built especially for fighting fires in the country and is of little benefit in fighting residential fires.

The city of Canyon just doesn't need the truck and the city commission doesn't want to buy it.

Thompson did not point out that Canyon answers more than four times as many rural calls in Randall County as Amarillo.

The Amarillo Department usually sends from one to four men while Canyon sends from 20 to 30 on rural calls. The percentage of Amarillo's men and equipment committed on a rural fire is negligible while Canyon normally commits from 50 to 75 percent of its fire fighting capacity on any given fire.

Thompson points to the fact that Canyon has no city jail but uses the county jail as another example of county gouging. He doesn't tell his readers that prisoners picked up by the city and held in jail normally are turned over to the county and the county collects fine revenue.

He says the Sheriff's Department dispatching service costs the county $1075 a month and is used by Canyon for a $150 pittance.

Thompson neglects to point out that the dispatchers would have to be kept on hand 24 hours a day by the county anyway, that they serve as office deputies and clerks, and that they spend very little time in a 24-hour stint in actual radio transmission for the city.

Neither does Thompson tell his readers that the county transmitting equipment and dispatchers also are used by the Highway Patrol, Texas Rangers, FBI, Treasury Agents and almost any other law enforcement branch who pay nothing at all for the service.

Thompson does not tell his readers that the excellent co-operation between the city police and sheriff's department in Canyon has resulted in such thorough law enforcement that there virtually are no unsolved crimes in Randall County and crooks give the domain of Slim Johnston a wide berth.

 We want to end our column this week by giving a rousing cheer for the Canyon Fire Department which successfully fought on three fronts Monday night.

High School Conferences End Friday

Freshmen conferences for incoming Canyon High School freshmen will end Friday (tomorrow), according to J.E. Miller, CHS principal.

The conferences were held every day for the past two weeks and gave the students and parents an opportunity to learn of the schedule of the new high school students will follow. Classes were arranged during the individual meetings and courses were explained to both parents and students.

"In case some one was not contacted for a conference they should phone the high school office and a special conference will be set up for them," says Miller.

"We have had fine sessions and the parents seem to enjoy the conference periods," Miller added.

A County Fire Department ?

(An Editorial)

Three fires at one time—two of them rural—places a suggestion that the county solve its rural fire fighting problem by hiring a single fireman to man the county's truck in the realm of the ludicrous.

Fires at the Victor Hill and Bradley Burrus places were some 12 miles apart as fire trucks had to go. Yet, Canyon's trained volunteer fire department was able to handle all three fires and save taxpayer property of sufficient value to dwarf the county's investment in fire fighting equipment.

There has been a suggestion by County Commissioner C.Y. Johnson that one hired man drive the county's fire truck and depend upon folks who might gather at the fire to pitch in and help out.

A meeting of such a haphazardly organized fire department might well be held in a telephone booth. Rural people simply do not live in geographic position to belong to an organization which must of necessity meet at a given place within minutes of an alarm.

Also, it occurs to us that city people are county taxpayers. If fire breaks out inside the city limits of Canyon, will not the county truck be under as much obligation to answer that call as it would be to answer a call 10 miles south of Canyon in the country?

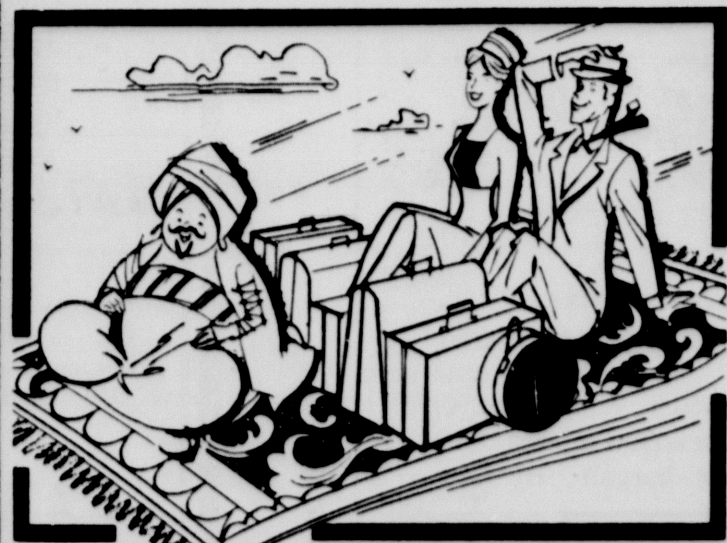

We wonder why Mr. Johnson was constrained to author a commissioners court resolution designed to abrogate a contract which he willingly signed with the city last year. (Johnson's signature appears on a city-county rural fire fighting contract along with the names of Wayland Angel, Clarence Beckman, Glenn Dowlen and B.R. Jones.)

The contract with the city was signed March 31, 1961 and unless terminated or breached would run to March 31, 1965. If the contract is unjust this year, why was it signed last year?

We cannot rid ourselves of a dark suspicion that the Johnson resolution was conceived in politics and not born of a sincere desire to serve the best interests of the people of Randall County.

WE WILL BE CLOSED AUGUST 6 AND REOPEN AUGUST 20.

SCD News

Interest in planting of irrigated grasses continues to increase in Randall Co. Carrol Forrester has 90 acres of switch grass which is well established and producing a lot of beef.

Watkins Bros. Have 116 acres of Midland Bermuda that is becoming well established. They also have a large automatic sprinkler system to irrigate the grass pasture, this saves many hours of labor and will result in a uniform amount of moisture applied over the entire field.

Management of these irrigated grasses is very important. Tall grass should reach a height of about 18 to 20 inches before commencing grazing. Too many animals on the pastures too soon results in poor pastures. It is better to put in a few head and increase the number gradually until full capacity is reached.

It takes grass to grow grass. The leaves, supplied by moisture from the soil, absorb sunlight and manufacture food right in the leaves. Therefore it is just as important not to overgraze as it is to irrigate, fertilize and control the weeds.

If you are interested in establishing irrigated grasses contact the Soil Conservation Service Technicians and let them help you plan your pastures. They have information on the planting times, the rate and the different kinds of grasses. They also know which grasses are suitable to the different soils found in this county.

WHY YOU CAN'T READ MOST PRESCRIPTIONS

Contrary to general belief, physicians do not write prescriptions in code, latin, or purposely unreadable by the patient. The chief reason you cannot safely read them is because the names of the drugs are unfamiliar.

There are more than 4000 different medicines in our prescription laboratory and many of their names are almost similar. We know how to spell each one and their dosage and medical uses. Of course if we ever have the slightest doubt we immediately check with the physician before dispensing.

Your doctor can phone us when you need a medicine. Registered Pharmacist on duty 8 a.m. till 8 p.m. daily (Sundays and Holidays 8 a.m. till 6 p.m.). A great many people entrust us with their prescription. May we compound yours?

W T Music Camp State's Largest

By MARGO WILLIAMS

Music, batons, long-waiting lines and enthusiasm set the stage for the 10th annual West Texas Music Camp which began last week on West Texas State College campus.

Over 500 students and music directors are participating in the 2-week camp which offers instructions from the area's finest music directors.

"The reason the camp has grown each year is because of the strong faculty we are able to acquire for the 2 weeks," said Dr. Ted Crager, director of the music camp and chairman of the WTSC music department.

The camp is noted as one of the states largest music camps.

Students were turned down this summer because of a shortage in dorm rooms.

Students attending the camp sessions may enroll in choir or band or both, with private lessons given as well as the group instruction.

Membership for the various bands is determined the first day of camp through individual auditions. Students are placed in one of the four bands according to their playing ability.

The Symphonic Band is made up of the most advanced instrumental players of the camp. The Red and Blue Concert Bands consist of high school students who have not yet had sufficient experience to qualify for the Symphonic Band.

7th, 8th and 9th grade students play in the Junior High Band and advanced students in this group may audition for one of the other bands.

A Reading band offers high school and college students and directors an opportunity to read new musical releases.

Band students spend 2 hours every morning in rehearsals and one hour in technique class.

Choir members run on approximately the same schedule with group rehearsals and theory and vocal classes.

About 215 pupils are enrolled for twirling and drum major courses taught by Bill Woods, director of the Levelland bands.

Matilda Gaume is teaching piano for the summer sessions, and Alvis M. Autrey of San Antonio College directs the camp choir.

Band directors are James Matthews of the University of Houston director of the Symphonic Band; J.R. McEntyre of Odessa director of the Red Concert Band; G.T. Gilligan of Kermit director of the Blue Concert Band, and Orland Butler of Lubbock director of the Junior High Band.

Afternoon sessions include private lessons, expert section instruction or small ensembles. Each student is required to take one hour of the section instruction, in which the fundamentals of tone production, intonation, blend, control and general musicianship are stressed.

Visiting instructors also have an opportunity to attend classes. During the afternoon sessions a conference is held in several areas of music techniques and the band directors are encouraged to attend.

Aside from the band and choir courses a student may enter a class of conducting, marching, stage band or a record club. Each course is counted toward fulfilling the students five hour requirements.

Activity for the band students does not stop with the end of classes for the day. Every Friday evening a concert is given by the bands, choir and a twirling exhibition is given.

They are exposed to the experiences of college life through living in the dormitories and their associations with other band members.

The WTSC swimming pool is open daily for the students use, and picnics, games, folk and ballroom dancing are offered every day and night.

Student and faculty recitals are given throughout the two weeks and the Music Camp Ball will be held tonight (Thursday) in the Student Activities Ballroom.

Highlighting the music camp will be the concert planned for Patti Waugh of Canyon listens as Orland Butler of Lubbock points out difficult passages in the music the Junior High Band is playing at the two week music camp being held at West Texas State College. Butler is the director of the Junior High Band and Patti plays the clarinet.

County Agent's Column

T.J. Sparks, field man for the Predatory Animal Control Service will be in Randall County on Wednesday, August 1. While here Sparks will be working with several landowners on control of prairie dogs. There are several towns scattered over the county. They have a tendency to grow in size and number unless eradicated. Four landowners have asked for this service. Other landowners who have prairie dog problems may have their pastures worked by calling me before Aug. 1.

The four cent federal gas tax refund for gasoline used on farms for farming purposes should now be claimed. This refund is for gasoline used off roads and for farming purposes during the fiscal year July 1, 1961 to and through June 30, 1962. I have a supply of card-size forms to use if you have misplaced yours or did not receive one.

With the addition of Armstrong County to the list of counties cooperating with the Texas Brucellosis Control program, Randall County now becomes all but surrounded by counties doing this work. As these counties become certified the movement of local cattle except to slaughter will be increasingly difficult. All the surrounding counties except the one on the north boundary are now under this control plan.

This work is brought into a county by a petition of cattle owners. Local cattlemen started a petition more than a year ago but at this time the required number of signatures have not been received. The Randall County Farm Bureau endorsed this program and some of the members have worked to secure signatures to bring this control program into effect here.

The number of cattle and calves in Texas feedlots on July 1, is up 18 percent above the number one year ago. Steers accounted for 54 percent of this number. Heifers represented 45 percent while cows and others made up the remainder. This information is reported by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

A new publication "Wild Game Care and Cooking" number B-987, has been received from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This bulletin written by specialists at Texas A&M College is a handy guide and reference. It discusses the care and cooking of big game, small game, game birds, and tells how to freeze wild game. I will have a supply of this publication for distribution this week.

Selling Record Wins Trip For Local Dealer

By MARGO WILLIAMS

The Blackabys, Bruce and Georgia, have won a trip to Europe.

The Blackabys leave August 6, for a free trip to the Riviera and Rome, plus some possible side trips to Florence, Naples and Vienna.

In May they found that they were winners of the annual Ford Motor Company's volume sales contest, and as winners they get two weeks in Italy...compliments of Ford.

Bruce Blackaby began his experience with Ford nine years ago as a dealer representative and in 1959 he opened his own dealership here in Canyon.

Progress seems to be Georgia and Bruce's desire. The first year in Canyon they won the volume sale and Bruce was awarded the Sales Leadership Plaque. Each year since then he has won the leadership award, and has been eligible for the annual trip offered for the top car sales.

"We have never been able to take the time to go on the trips before, but we just couldn't pass this one up," said Georgia as she eyed her passport. "We are ready for a vacation, that's for sure," Bruce commented. "We haven't had a vacation since we've been here."

From this district of 270 Ford dealers, the Blackabys will travel with 11 winners. They leave

Amarillo Men Form Committee For Jack Seale

Formation of a committee to promote the candidacy of Jack Seale for Congress from the 18th Congressional District was announced last Saturday by a trio of prominent Amarillo citizens. Seale is a Republican.

The three described themselves as "abandoned Democrats."

C.J. Humphrey, widely known attorney, announced at a news conference that he has accepted chairmanship of the committee.

Humphrey, a former campaign chairman for Seale's opponent, Democrat Walter Rogers, said he is supporting Seale because:

"We are convinced that Jack Seale would never support a farm program that would make virtual slaves of our farmers. We are convinced that Jack Seale would never cast a vote... which would increase the tremendous national debt or restrict the liberty and freedom of our people."

Co-chairmen of the committee, to be called the "Panhandle Citizens for Jack Seale," are Gene Klein, prominent Amarillo businessman and former mayor, and Ken Grenwald, outstanding businessman and civic leader.

Humphrey announced that a meeting is being planned in Amarillo Aug. 20 to which citizens from all over the congressional district will be invited. Purpose of that meeting will be to organize the committee and plan its activities for the campaign.

Burkett Suffers Bruised Shoulder

Charles Burkett suffered a bruised shoulder Friday morning of last week when a pickup truck on which he was working fell on him.

Burkett is a mechanic at Bruce Blackaby Ford Company. He was treated at Nebraska Hospital and dismissed.

The Bruce Blackabys look over their passports. They will be off to Europe for a tour early next month. The Blackabys won the trip in a sales contest sponsored by Ford Motor Company.
